

Kwetu Africa
Kampala, Uganda

Kwetu Africa is run by the Ugandan artist and designer Sanaa Gateja. In the true sense of the word, he succeeds in UP-cycling recycled paper beads into sophisticated wearable art pieces; a style he refers to as 'Art Wear'. His raw materials are old books, magazines, and posters, and for each product, he transforms the words and images into colors, textures, and patterns. The process of making the recycled paper beads is labour intensive and requires skilled hands. Kwetu creates employment for numerous women in and around the city of Kampala in Uganda.
